

Dear IAAH Members,

It is a pleasure to welcome you all to our Autumn newsletter and share details of our forthcoming events. Before discussing those in greater detail, I would like to take this opportunity to thank Dr Sarah Wilson for her work and dedication to the role of Chair over the past year. I am delighted that Sarah will continue to be involved with the Association and the journal over the coming year, along with Committee members Dr Louise Kelly, Leslie O'Connor Turner, and Tony Suttle. We also look forward to welcoming a new Treasurer and Events Officer to the Committee in due course.

Our season will start out with a special event for new and continuing postgraduate students and PhD researchers in Art History and associated disciplines. As more researchers continue on to this level of study, the IAAH can provide an important platform for supporting students and researchers - both in terms of a professional support network, and a more informal peer group. This event is open to all, so please do spread the word to your classmates or fellow PhD-ers.

Later in October, Dr Michael Waldron will lead a tour of the 'Crawford at the Castle' exhibition, and in November, Logan Sisley will guide us through the Sven Augustijnen installation at the Dublin City Gallery the Hugh Lane.

As we send out this newsletter, Issue 8 of Artefact: the Journal of the Association of Art Historians is making its way to the printers, and will soon be finding its way to your bookshelves. The issue contains four wonderful articles on a variety of art historical topics, as well as a healthy review section. We were delighted with the strong response of researchers to the call for submissions to Issue 9, and look forward to the process of bringing the next issue to fruition.

I look forward to seeing you all in the coming months,

Katy Milligan

Forthcoming Member Events

13 October 2016, 18:30

Art History Meet-Up

The IAAH invite all new and continuing postgraduate and PhD researchers to an informal meet-up Davy Byrne's, Duke Street. Come along and meet peers from across the different courses and universities, and find out more about current art historical research in Ireland. Take the opportunity to meet some of the IAAH team and the Association's activities. From 18:30, all welcome!

Saturday, 29 October 2016, 11:30

Curator's Tour

'Crawford at the Castle: Three Centuries of Irish Art from a National Collection', Dublin Castle. Led by Dr Michael Waldron (Crawford Art Gallery/UCC), this tour will give an insight into the curatorial thinking behind the exhibition, as well as an insight into the paintings on display. Numbers limited to 20, to book please email iaahinfo@gmail.com or call/text Katy 086 328 35 63 by Wednesday, 26 October. Meeting point: Outside the Tours Office, Lower Castle Yard, 11:15.

Saturday, 19 November 2016, 12:00

Curator's Tour

'Sven Augustijnen: The Metronome Bursts of Automatic Fire Seep Through the Dawn Mist Like Muffled Drums and We Know It for What It Is', Dublin City Gallery the Hugh Lane. Curator Logan Sisley will guide us through the Hugh Lane's new storyboard installation by Belgian artist, Sven Augustijnen. This exhibition is part of the Hugh Lane's Artist as Witness 2016 exhibition programme. Numbers limited to 30, to book please email iaahinfo@gmail.com or call/text Katy 086 328 35 63 by Wednesday, 16 November. Meeting point: Lobby, DCGHL, 11:45.

Annual Christmas Lecture and Party

Details of the Annual Christmas Lecture and Party will be circulated to all members in October.

Membership Survey

In the coming weeks, we will be releasing a survey open to all those with an interest in art history in Ireland

Membership Renewal

Don't forget to renew your membership of the IAAH in the New Year! Details available from artefactjournal.com