

Dear IAAH Members,

Welcome to our autumn/winter Newsletter and many thanks for your continued support of the Association. We have recently introduced an option to become a member or to renew membership online using a credit/debit card. This facility can be located via our website at <http://artefactjournal.com/iaah/iaah-membership/> this option will work in tandem with the old system and it is still possible to send cheques and membership applications through the post. Also, we now have our own Facebook page, a link to this page can be found on our website at <http://artefactjournal.com/iaah/>. There are some really great photos (mostly thanks to Carla Briggs) of the various trips and outings that have taken place over the last couple of years, including, Chicago, Italy, Liverpool & Paris.

Since our last Newsletter we have run a number of events. Last April, our annual Study Day took place at the National Gallery and we would like to thank all who were involved, including the Gallery staff, the committee members of the Association, the members of the editorial board of the Association's journal, Artefact, the speakers, and all those who came to support, listen, and engage on the day. Congratulations to those who recently had their articles published in Artefact (issue six). The journal provides a rare platform for early stage researchers in art history and its related disciplines to disseminate their work. The members of the editorial board work on a voluntary basis and their commitment is essential to the production of this publication. We would like to take this opportunity to thank the outgoing members of the Artefact committee, Dr Kate Antosik Parsons, Carla Briggs & Dr Linda King. We welcome on board Katy Milligan (TCD) and Rebecca Campion (NUI, Maynooth).

At our AGM in May, Carla Briggs, Hilary Sexton and Orla Fitzpatrick stood down from the committee and we extend our thanks for all their hard work. Hilary who has been successfully minding our money for a number of years has been replaced as treasurer by Sarah Maguire. We welcome new committee members, Jessica Fahy, Leslie Turner O'Connor, Sarah Wilson & Caoilte O'Mahony; Caoilte is our new Events Officer.

On September 28th the National Gallery of Ireland is holding an art teacher's conference and has teamed up with a number of bodies, including the IAAH. In addition the NGI in association with BNP Paribas and the IAAH is presenting a series of lectures on Impressionism during the month of October. Also in October is the option of a trip to Manchester. In November Dr Jennifer Goff will give a tour of the Eileen Gray exhibition at IMMA. In December Professor Declan McGonagle (NCAD) will speak at our annual Christmas lecture/party. Booking forms and details of all these events are contained within this Newsletter. We look forward to seeing you in the forthcoming months.

Best Wishes

Audrey

CHRISTMAS LECTURE & PARTY 2013

Tuesday, 17 December @ 6.15 pm

Venue: National Library of Ireland, Kildare St, D. 2

It's Art, But Not As We Know It!

Professor Declan McGonagle

Drawing on his own curatorial experience, Declan McGonagle will discuss challenges to inherited definitions of 'art and artist', the ongoing need to expand those definitions - bridging to new, rather than bonding within old, understandings.

Declan McGonagle has been Director of the National College of Art and Design Dublin, since 2008. Prior to that he directed Interface Research Centre at University of Ulster, [2004–2008], dealing with issues of art/design, context and contested space. He set up and directed the Civil Arts Inquiry at City Arts Centre, Dublin, from [2001–2004], and was the founding Director of the Irish Museum of Modern Art, [1991–2001] following periods as Director of the Orchard Gallery in Derry and Director of Exhibitions at the ICA in London in the period 1978–1990.

He was Chair and then a Board member of the Liverpool Biennial [2001–2009], and directed A New Necessity, the First Tyne International in Gateshead/Newcastle in 1990/1. He has served on several State advisory bodies in Ireland and was shortlisted for the Tate Gallery's Turner Prize [1987] as well as serving on the jury [1993], also the juries for the Jerwood Painting Prize, London [2001] and the first Artes Mundi Artist's Award, Cardiff [2002]. He was Ireland Commissioner for the 1993 Venice Biennale and the 1994 Sao Paulo Biennale and served as a member of the Selection Committee for the British Council for the 2009 Venice Biennale. He has also served on the Broadcasting Council of Northern Ireland and the Healing Through Remembering Project in Belfast. He is a Contributing Editor of Artforum, New York, and a member of the International Advisory Panel of Engage, London, and is a former Board member of the Derry/Londonderry - UK City of Culture 2013, having worked on the bid document and chaired the interim Board. He writes, lectures and publishes regularly on art, museum/gallery policy issues, and curates exhibitions with a focus on the relationship between art/artist and society.
